RUMORED ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE MAX-IMILLIAN .- A letter from the city of Mexico of the 18th ult., says:

Rumors of important events have been put in circulation. Mr. Sailliard, a French Maximillian, on board of the French steamer from St. Nazaire. The arrival of the latter was kept carefully secret as far as possible.— He is accompanied by the Count de Bombeliz, an Austrian, a great favorite of Maximillian. Whether the Archduke has come to Mexico in order to advise his royal brother, or whether he has been sent out as the agent of Napoleon, is at present a matter of conjecture. There is another circumstance which has also been studiously concealed from public knowledge. Here it is. One day during Maximillian's last sojourn at Cuernavaca, while walking about, followed at a short distance by one of his staff officers, the attention of the latter was excited by the suspicious movements of a man who appeared he stopped, and gradually approaching Upon searching him a loaded revolver was was shortly afterwards released by order of the Emperor, who, as rumor has it, said to me too well." "On one side was raised a platform of pure white marble extending the entire length of the room; and on this platform they discovered a human skeleton of gigantic size and in excellent preservation. Its length, from head to feet, was thirty-eight feet six inches. They could not measure the circumference of the head, but it was immense they could imagine about six feet. Two of the teeth were dislocated, and these they brought to town, and I have seen them .-They are now upon the counter of the office of the Pacific Hotel for general inspection, and Mr. Blakemore, the gentlemanly clerk, takes pleasure in exhibiting them to the numerous persons who call for their inspection. One of them is ten inches in circumference, and the other about six. It is almost impossible to imagine an animal large enough to use such masticators. It has been determined to have a thorough exploration of this subterranean mystery to-morrow."

TUESDAY, - - MARCH 20, 1866.

We copied recently from the Washington Star a statement that seventyfive persons belonging to the Society of Friends, had passed through Washington from Randolph County, North-Carolina, on their way to Indiana. The cause of their emigration they stated to be the persistent persecution they were compelled to endure in this State .-Since the election on the 9th of November, some six or seven families have left ments, and in respect to criminal proceed- this community for Illinois; and we hear, from various quarters, that many of our best Union people are leaving the State.

This unfortunate condition of things may be traced to several causes. One cause is the fertility of the lands in the Northwest compared to ours; another ter 212 of said Code relating to proceedings is, the poverty of our State generally, against negroes; chapter 98 of said Code re- with the want of money, which cannot lating to patrols; sections 25 to 47, both inclusive, of chapter 192 of said Code; sections be abundant until crops can be raised 26 to 30, both inclusive, and sections 33 to and sold; another is, the destruction of our common school system by the leadsection 2 of chapter 203 of said Code; all ers in the rebellion, thus cutting off the acts and parts of acts imposing on negroes | children of the great body of the people from the hope even of an education; other acts and parts of acts inconsistent with another is, the presence of the military and Freedmens' Bureau, and the disappointment of the hopes of many in not seeing the State restored to the Union; but the great moving cause more or PRESIDENT .- A Washington despatch to the less with all, is the predominance in the State government of the secession feeling, and the apprehension that this feeling will increase and spread until a resare but fifteen Republican Congressmen who idence here by unconditional Union people will become not merely unpleasant, but intolerable.

The members of the Society of Friends are among our best people. Those of them who truly follow the Prince of Peace are of the "salt of the earth,"diplomatist, has arrived here, and also the Archduke Etienne, brother of the Emperor and lowly, they quietly perform all their duties as citizens, and never obtrude themselves into the concerns of others, or engage in party broils. To a man they opposed the rebellion, and while they submitted to the defacto government, they exerted themselves within becoming bounds for peace. They were persecuted for their peace principles, and their names were "cast out as evil."-They were harrassed and scourged by home guards and Confederate troops, by orders from Richmond and Raleigh. They suffered and longed for the old to be dogging the Emperor, stopping when flag, and when it came they thought closer and closer to him. Finally, when the they would have peace and protection individual got close to his Majesty, the under its folds, and that they would not staff officer rushed forward and seized him. have to endure the sting of the reproach found concealed under his coat. leaving the State. It is a significant fact that Randolph is Gov. Worth's County, and that this exodus of these good people is taking place under his administration; and yet, in the late campaign for Governor, Jonathan Worth was held up to the people as a sympathizer with the Friends, and they were asked to vote for him because of his Quaker descent!

If the President's plan of restoration had been carried out in good faith, and if, as the President desired and intended, the affairs of the State had remained in the hands of "unmistakably" loval men, it is more than probable that these Friends would have continued with us, for they would have had some assurance that persecution would not overtake them, and that they would be nated, by acclamation, General Grant for the respected for their peace principles,— We regret that they feel constrained to young leave us. "HALTING .- The Freedmen's bill of rights, pending in the North-Carolina Legislature, contains a proviso that it shall not go into ffect until the State shall have been relieved from the operations of the Freedmen's Bureau. This is a violation of the conditions laid down by the President, in his instructions to Governor Worth, for the reorganization of that State; and on learning that this proviso was to be pushed, the President indicated his views against it, in a telegram to Governor Worth, reminding him that the proviso, preventing the negroes from obtaining civil rights until the Freedmen's Bureau shall have been removed from the State, is not in accordance with the stipulations he had made in reorganizing the State, and urging that the bill ought to pass without the proviso .- Albany Evening Journal."

CHAPEL HILL, March 9th, 1866. GENTLEMEN:-I have just received your note requesting the early publication of a Digest of all the reported cases determined in the Courts of this State, which you say you have heard that I have prepared. I am highly gratified by the interest which you manifest in the proposed work. It is true, that it is nearly completed, and it will be put to press as soon as the necessary preparations for it, which I have commenced, can be finished. The work will appear in two volumes, the first containing the laws, and the second the Equity decisions, and it will embrace every reported case which has ever been published in the State from the earliest period down to the present time. I have bestowed much care and labor upon the work, and hope it will meet the approbation of the bench and bar of North-Carolina, at whose instance, and for whose use it has been pre-
